Do you all need specs?? Are they just for show? I bet you don't really need them?..... These are just some of the questions we are asked every day. So! What do we choose to do about seeing clearly? And how do we make those choices?

Gill (optometrist) was asked at work recently – ‘Don’t you need glasses yet?’

‘I’ve worn glasses since I was 5, and contact lenses since I went to uni at 18, and I wouldn’t be without them for walking my dogs in the rain, and getting up close to the eyepieces when I am using our instruments at work.

My contact lenses are dailies for convenience, and multifocals so I can see near and far.’

Nearly every patient, whatever their prescription or age, can wear contact lenses these days. Whether it’s your main optical solution, or only for times when spectacle wear is not convenient, we can discuss choices. If you have tried contact lenses in the past, but no longer wear them, call in to the practice and find out what’s new. We can supply brands from a wide range of manufacturers, and are willing to go the extra mile to find the right lens for you. Our staff are patient and friendly when it comes to teaching you how to use your lenses, and helping with queries, especially if you are a new wearer! So why not give contact lens wear a try in 2016?

Cheryl, our practice manager says ‘I was only 10 when I started wearing glasses, and got contact lenses for my wedding at 20. I like to wear my lenses socially, which includes for exercise and my love of rollercoasters!’
